

Top coaching centre begins massive roll-out

THE INTERNATIONALLY-ACCREDITED Centre for Coaching at the University of Cape Town's (UCT's) Graduate School of Business (GSB) is embarking on one of the largest rollouts of coaching expertise ever seen in the country. The centre is set to stage a new coaching course in Durban and additional courses in Cape Town and Johannesburg. Craig O'Flaherty, founder and director of the Centre for Coaching, said that the national drive is geared towards addressing the ever increasing demand for coaching expertise as more organisations focus on skills development and growth efforts. The UCT, GSB-based centre offers a variety of coaching options, from a two-day Coaching to Excellence (CTE) workshop, to a year-long Professional Coaching Course. The two-day CTE course is designed to introduce participants to the principles and methodology of coaching, which they can apply immediately in their work places. This course is run four times a year in Cape Town and Johannesburg, and once a year in Durban. 3S
